Is this a silly question? Now that I know the answer, perhaps so. But I do think that many students and GDPs fail to see the main role of Class I molars in a pleasing smile...

I am joined in this episode by Dr Mohammed Almuzian, Specialist Orthodontist and one of the best educators I have ever had the pleasure of learning from.

What we cover in this podcast:

What is the significance of Class I molars?

How you can calculate what the overjet may be if you carried out alignment only orthodontics in fraction class molars

Is there ever a suitable situation to accept a compromised orthodontic result? Does it always have to finish in Class I molars?
